

Your Vote

By: Isabella Balturshot

See you at the polls! Have you ever considered the importance of your vote in an election? There are many reasons why we should participate in elections and help choose our leaders.

To begin with, elections give us a chance to voice our opinions. Everyone has different opinions, and voting gives us a chance to stand up for what we believe in. Everyone deserves to have a part in choosing our leader, and voting gives us that opportunity.

Another important reason why we should vote is that this person will most likely change our lives. As you know every candidate has different views on situations in our lives. If they are elected those views will affect our lives in many ways such as education and taxes. This person will change our future in many ways, good or bad. Isn't your future worth voting for?

Lastly, we should vote because we can. Not everyone has always been allowed to vote. Until the 15th Amendment was made, African Americans had no say in choosing our leaders. It wasn't until the 19th Amendment that women were allowed to vote. Therefore, we should not take our right to vote for granted.

All in all, there are many reasons that support why it is important to vote. We should vote because it gives us a chance to voice our opinion, the person will affect our lives, and Americans have spent generations fighting for their right to vote. Remember this when it's your time to vote!